FACTS ABOUT THE CLUB

The Pike's Peak Whittlers club was organized in 1982 and is for people of all ages, from children to senior citizens, who are interested in woodcarving and/or woodworking. Membership is open to anyone who carves, works with wood, or has an interest in promoting carving as an art form.

Over the years, the club has attracted woodcarvers of all ability levels from Colorado Springs and the surrounding areas. Members are assessed annual dues of $20 per household. Dues are used to cover the costs of meeting room rental, media, and miscellaneous expenses.

Officers are elected by members and additional duties are handled by special appointment as needed. Many club members share their knowledge, experience, time, and talents to club activities.

In addition, Pike's Peak Whittlers:

- Compiles a yearly club membership directory
- Publishes a monthly member newsletter
- Conducts activities such as workshops, shows, exhibitions, and monthly meetings
- Maintains contact with area carving instructors, wood and tool suppliers, and other carving clubs
- Promotes woodcarving by giving lessons and demonstrations within the community throughout the year
- Maintains a library of carving books, patterns, and other media. Free checkout to members.

ACTIVITIES

Monthly meetings are held on the second Saturday of the month from 9am - 12pm. Meetings begin with club business. Fellowship follows to include a "Show and Share" for members wanting to show off recent pieces and then members can either carve on their own or participate in a member led carving class.

Advanced carvers are available during meetings to offer encouragement and tips on all aspects of woodcarving. Meetings are an excellent place for beginners to observe, work with, and learn from experienced carvers.

Fun club activities include an annual show in which members may compete, show, and/or sell woodcarvings, an aspen harvest in the summer where aspen wood is gathered for carving walking sticks and other pieces, a picnic, and a holiday party at the end of the year.
